About Catch22

Catch22 is a social business: a not-for-profit business with a social mission. For over 200 years we have designed and delivered services that build resilience and aspiration in people and communities. There are three directorates: Justice and Education, Young People and Families, and Employment and Skills. We work with local authorities and other commissioners to deliver more than 120 public services that meet local needs and support individuals within our communities.

Our vision is a strong society where everyone has a good place to live, a purpose and good people around them.

We believe that access to these three basic things (which we call our 3Ps) is fundamental to transforming lives and communities. All Catch22 services deliver at least one – and often all three- of these outcomes.

In 2022-23, our teams made a difference in many communities.

- The Catch22 family touched the lives of more than 140,000 people across 100+ services.
- 97% of people supported by our Young People and Families team reported that they felt safer as a result.
- Our Justice Services worked with 45,000 people across its services.
- Across our Employability provision, 64% of the individuals that we supported into work sustained that outcome for at least six months.

Gangs and Violence Reduction

Our services work in prisons and the community to reduce the risk posed by gang-involved individuals and, ultimately, reduce the number of violent incidents.

Within prisons, we deliver targeted, adapted interventions to promote an understanding of community issues and how these issues may impact a custodial setting. We support prison management by reducing the risk posed by gang-involved prisoners, so that violent incidents are prevented. By offering alternatives to the supposed security and status offered by gang involvement, our strategy is more effective than the "suppression only" approach used in many prisons.

We also work within the community, using an end-to-end approach to work with individuals, families, schools, custodial estates and communities to reduce gang involvement and its effects. Our work targets and builds on service user strengths, to prevent them from becoming involved in gangs, and provides a range of interventions for gang-involved young people to support them to exit.

Commissioned Rehabilitative Services

Catch22's Commissioned Rehabilitative Services encompass three contracts: Personal Wellbeing; Finance, Benefit and Debt; Dependency and Recovery. These contracts are aimed at addressing variables which can inhibit the rehabilitation of those previously involved in the criminal justice system, and contribute to potential recidivism and consequent reincarceration. All three of these contracts can offer rewarding and interesting student internships.

PERSONAL WELLBEING SERVICES

Working with men aged 18+ who are subject to probation supervision following a prison sentence, to support effective community integration and well-being.

We deliver a holistic service, which is designed to address a range of frequently occurring rehabilitative needs all linked to personal well-being including emotional well-being, family and significant others, lifestyle and associates and social inclusion.

Support is provided using an individualised approach which focuses on establishing high-quality relationships with each service user, leading to the creation of a personal action plan with agreed goals to work towards, relevant to their particular needs.

FINANCE, BENEFIT AND DEBT

Finance, benefit and debt issues are entangled with many other key factors that increase re-offending, and prison leavers are more likely than others to face financial problems when rejoining society. The Finance, Benefit and Debt service reduces the risk of re-offending for service users subject to probation supervision in London, by tackling these factors.

A range of approaches are used including direct delivery of interventions in one-to-one or group sessions, support and advocacy, and advice and guidance. Interventions are tailored to reflect the complexity of an individual service user's needs. A final report is produced to reflect the service user's progress through their time with the service.

DEPENDENCY AND RECOVERY

Supporting young adult males, aged 18-25, who are on probation and require support addressing their dependency issues working towards recovery.

Our service users work with a Recovery Practitioner who will make sure they are accessing the appropriate dependency and substance misuse treatment while providing additional support and guidance towards their recovery.

Our service is designed to consider the challenges young adults face and work towards building their resistance to peer influence, developing their self-sufficiency, and increasing their ability to focus on their future goals. Our approach aims to meet the needs of those service users whose dependency on substances often co-occur alongside other mental illnesses and other complex needs.

Danny Case study

Where Danny Started

Danny applied to a placement via the website. He was studying Forensic Psychology with Investigation and the University of West London, which sparked his interest in gaining experience in the Criminal Justice System. Given Danny's academic background in forensic psychology, and his successful interview, Catch22 offered him a placement in the Personal Wellbeing London Service, which he started in September 2023. Danny was very eager to learn from the start and especially eager to develop skills in supporting vulnerable people.

What Danny Accomplished

Danny undertook his placement for three months. In that time, he became a dependable member of the People Who Have Sexually Harmed and the LGBTQ+ development groups, where he has supported with developing resources for staff and service users. Danny was extremely confident and knowledgeable, meaning he was co-facilitating group sessions as soon as he had completed the essential training, freeing up practitioners to conduct more 1-1 sessions. Danny was also rewarded with exciting opportunities such as visiting probation offices.

Where Danny is Going

Danny's placement was short because, just three months in, he was offered a role as a Wellbeing Practitioner in the Canning Town Hub! He has been working there since January 2024, alongside completing his studies, and hopes to join Catch22 as a full-time member of staff once he graduates.
